

The image shows the back of a Nexus tablet, which is encased in a clear, protective plastic or acrylic case. The case is held in place by four corner mounts. The tablet's back is black with a fine, pebbled texture. The word "nexus" is printed in a light gray, lowercase sans-serif font in the center. Two vertical yellow adhesive strips are visible on the left and right sides of the tablet, likely for repair or repair. A small white label with black text is affixed to the left side, near the top. The entire device is set against a plain, light-colored background.
